Dan,
Here are the web links that will get you started on this process:
The Division home page is here:
http://linux1.ogm.utah.gov/WebStuff/wwwroot/division/tabs.html
There are links to all kinds of informative sites on it.
The link to all our permit forms is here:
http://linux1.ogm.utah.gov/WebStuff/wwwroot/minerals/permit_forms.html
Look for the file titled "MR-LMO" for large mine permit
The link to our bond information is here:
http://linux1.ogm.utah.gov/WebStuff/wwwroot/minerals/bonding_facts.html
Penny Berry's phone number is toward the bottom of this page. Her email address is pennyberry@utah.gov .
The link to the bonding forms is here:
http://linux1.ogm.utah.gov/WebStuff/wwwroot/minerals/bonding_forms.html
And finally, the link to the Utah Mining Rules is here:
http://www.rules.utah.gov/publicat/code/r647/r647.htm
Hope that will get you started. We look forward to working with you.
Thanks,

Dan,
I'm checking to make sure you received this email with the links to our forms and other information. I talked with Penny Berry and she said she has not received anything yet from you, so I want to reiterate the importance of getting this bonding and permitting process under way, particularly the surety bond. If this doesn't get submitted by early next week, we will have no choice but to enforce the Cessation Order and have you stop work. As stated on the Cessation Order, you have until July 18 to get the bond in place. Once submitted to us, it can take a couple of days for us to process it.
We want to work with you to resolve this, but we are also required to uphold and enforce the mining regulations of the State. I encourage you to make this a top priority.
Please contact Penny if you have any questions about surety bonding.
Thanks
