Priscilla,

I spoke with Mark Schmitz at DWQ this afternoon. Mark and I agreed that biosolids should not be applied within 30-feet of the side channel. Federal biosolids rules prohibit application within 30 feet of "Waters of the United States". Given the flows in the side channel and the location of the White Oak site relative to drinking water sources we agreed that the 30-foot buffer zone is necessary for the side channel.

Mark cannot make it to the site this week but is interested in seeing the biosolids application activities next week. I committed to providing Mark an update on the application schedule later this week so he can plan a trip to the site next week, possibly carpooling with staff from the Division.

Thanks,
Kevin
