Dear Dianne Nielson:

The Division of Oil, Gas & Mining issued a completeness review of the Five year renewal submitted of the Skyline Mining Reclamation Plan on November 18, 1986. Keith Welch and I met with you and Ken May on Friday, December 5, 1986 to discuss several issues regarding the Division's response. We subsequently met with Ken May and Lowell Braxton to further discuss specific concerns.

Utah Fuel Company will resubmit the Skyline Mine Plan with additional information and justification for the purpose of satisfying the deficiencies noted in the completeness review. An interface and dialogue will be developed with individual reviewers in an effort to satisfy their requests or questions.

Where facilities, plans and programs were previously approved by DOGM and/or OSM, UFCo will not attempt to rejustify these items; however, we will include the pertinent back-up material initially provided for agency approval. Where additional information is available to help establish base-line or existing conditions, it will be provided. Likewise, where such information does not exist or is not available, UFCo will so state. In areas where requests conflict with existing regulations or adjudication, UFCo will discuss appropriate responses with Division personnel.

We believe the meeting established a mutual understanding which will aid us in our response. We will not be able to return the application complete by January 15th as requested in L. Braxton's letter dated 11/10/86; however, we plan on having a complete revised renewal application to the Division by February 15, 1986 as we discussed.

We appreciate your effort and the Division's willingness to streamline this resubmittal process as much as possible.

Sincerely,
