Subject: South Eccles Canyon Inspection

Yesterday, my staff inspected the South Fork of Eccles Canyon reclaimed access road and portal area. Much musk thistle was observed along the road on private land. The vegetation on the re-reclaimed road within the forest looks really good and the portal reclamation looks very good. There is a siltfence along the stream that is torn. My recommendation is the siltfence is no longer needed and should be removed and not be replaced.

Thanks

Tom

I would have sent this to Gregg, but can't seem to find his email address.
