RE: Carbon Resources, LLC Application for Permit to Mine Coal Under Utah Coal Mining Regulations

To whom it may concern:

As a resident of Carbon County and a property owner in Scofield, Utah I am excited to see this area developed into a fully functioning mining operation. The area around Scofield has such a rich history of mining. I would like my children to grow up knowing (and seeing) that this area will continue to contribute significantly to the providing of energy resources for our nation and economy. I am also excited about the employment prospects that a new mine would provide for Carbon County.

With so much concern by the public and the media regarding clean energy it is important that the high quality coal of the Scofield area be made available to industry.

My family owns a summer cabin about two miles from this location. This location is highly visible from the highway, Scofield Town and much of Pleasant Valley in general; however, this does not bother me at all because, once again, Scofield has such a rich history of coal mining and I would like to see that continue.

Sincerely,

Jason Frandsen
