Plans were implemented as approved by DOG-M on 5/23/84, but the approved designs were not adequate to minimize erosion & sedimentation caused from flushing the pipeline with up to 3400 gpm water to remove several major blockages (rock) in the slurry line 5/29/84. The catch basin & gabian dikes filled in with sediment and are now not functional as designed. US Steel has committed to reestablish the catch basin to the approved design, implementing additional sediment control (riprap or silt fence) along the ditches by 8AM 6/19/84. US Steel has also committed to submit new plans to improve the erosion & sediment control for slurry line breaks & blockage by July 5, 1984.
