Good afternoon,

Dana Dean asked me to provide some reclamation photo examples of work in Utah. I've attached some before and after photos of the Horizon Mine. It was a bond forfeiture site in Carbon County, Utah. We completed the earthwork last year and are continuing noxious weed control/revegetation efforts this year.

The site is really looking good. We've got some thistle to knock down, but that's pretty par for the course. I hope these photos work for you. If not, feel free to contact me. There are two post reclamation photos and one pre-reclamation photo. For whatever reason, my machine is insisting that I send the post reclamation photos via a google-link. The pre reclamation photo is attached. Let me know if you have any trouble downloading the 3 photos.

Regards,
Steve
