Steve:

Thanks for the information. I believe you are right about Vicky having gone through the map issue and water rights. I will check with her to be certain. Appreciate the help.

Chris

Chris,

I've attached the 'draft' meeting notes from the April 5th meeting that we discussed this morning. I couldn't readily locate the finalized notes, but there's essentially no difference between the draft and final version.

I read through them real quick and I have to clarify one thing. I mentioned at the meeting that the Division of Water Rights would produce water right maps for coal operators. I made that comment after having several conversations with Marc Stillson from the Price Water Rights office on that very subject. However, in recent permitting actions, it's clear that the Water Rights folks have backed way off from that position (i.e. generating water right maps for the public). I don't know why. Staffing maybe? Work loads? I'm not sure. At any rate, the current position of Water Rights is that they will assist coal operators in checking their water right information. I believe Vicky has already done that. They'll sit down and check your water right maps, but as far as producing one, that doesn't seem to be the direction they want to go.

Let me know if there's anything else you need.

Steve
