111.100-400. INTRODUCTION.

Sunnyside Cogeneration Associates (SCA) has acquired the Wattis Coal Refuse Pile located in Sage Brush Canyon. The refuse pile has accumulated from the disposal of coal mine waste from the underground coal mining operation at Star Point Mine, which has most recently been owned and operated by Cypress Plateau Mining Corporation (CPMC), a subsidiary of RAG American Coal Company. Cypress Plateau Mining Corporation has changed its name to Plateau Mining Corporation. All references to Cypress Plateau Mining Corporation or CPMC infer Plateau Mining Corporation or PMC.

The Star Point Mine is closed and CPMC has reclaimed much of the disturbed areas near the refuse pile. SCA has purchased certain properties and easements associated with the coal refuse pile along with a few surface facility buildings near the refuse pile. SCA, therefore, submitted this mining and reclamation plan and is the permittee for the mining activities on the property identified within the designated permit boundaries. An area, less than a quarter mile north of the refuse pile was used as subsoil storage area for the Refuse Pile Expansion Area. SCA acquired the rights to the soil and has designated this area as its reclamation Subsoil Area and has included it within the new permit boundary.

The SCA mining operation will consist of removing refuse material and hauling it for use in the SCA power cogeneration plant at Sunnyside, Utah. The refuse material will be used as an energy source to supplement its power generation. SCA's alternative energy project has been approved by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission as a Qualifying Facility, based on the usage of refuse material as fuel in its fluidized-bed combustion boiler.

The Utah Division of Oil Gas and Mining (DOGGM) considers the removal of the refuse pile as a Surface Coal Mining Operation and regulates as such under the provisions of Utah Administrative Code (UAC) R-645-301 "Coal Mine Permitting". However, many of the standard issues that generally apply to a surface coal mine will not apply to this operation since the pile is exposed and no stripping of any overlying strata or overburden is required.

Final reclamation is anticipated to begin upon the cessation of mining and excavation of the refuse pile. It is anticipated that the cessation of mining operations would occur after the refuse pile has been removed (with the exception of any reject coal mine waste or excess spoil which will have been placed in the proper disposal area). However, for the purpose of determining an estimated reclamation bond cost in accordance with the requirements of R-645-301-800, a second reclamation scenario is described which assumes that reclamation would begin under an assumed bond forfeiture condition under assumed conditions, which could exist at some time during the current permit term. In this plan, this scenario is called "Bonding Scenario Reclamation" while the actual anticipated reclamation is called "Final Reclamation".

This permit application is divided into eight sections per major code divisions covering: general conditions, soils, biology, land use and air quality, engineering, geology, hydrology, and bonding. The focus of this section of the permit application is general conditions, which is provided to meet the requirement of Section 100 of UAC R-645-301.

Consulting engineers preparing these permit documents have relied on data and maps from previous approved permits for Star Point Mines. This permit application has been revised to reflect the SCA - Star Point Permit Area.

The format followed is in compliance with State of Utah guidelines, which follow OSM prescribed format.
