Tim,

I agree with Karl. I think it's probably the cleanest, easiest route if you just submit a quick amendment once a year outlining the need to continue collecting groundwater data.

Tim,

I believe the best way is still just to bump the date by making your case for retention as you have in the past, through the amendment process.

Karl,

Forgot about the 4 day work week. I'll try you on Monday or perhaps we can handle through email. If you remember the Minor Exploration Permit had a well completion date which I've been getting extended year to year. I was doing this thinking that the HV major permit would be forthcoming and it would all get wrapped up within a groundwater monitoring plan.

As of today, I have no responsible expectation that submittal of the major application to HV will be anytime soon. We would like to keep these wells open and monitoring on a quarterly basis, providing data for future background. Curious if you have a thought about the path I need to proceed on or speak with Steve Christiansen concerning this matter.

Tim,

No, The State of Utah has us on a 4 -10 work week. We are off on Fridays. April is a tight month for me since I will be Washington DC for a week. I should be in April 5, 2010 (Monday).

Good Afternoon Karl,

Copy of Hidden Valley Annual Report is being sent overnight to you today. I do need to talk with you about the HV permit, I have the lingering issue permit narrative concerning reclaiming the 3 wells which we have been and would like to continue monitoring. Will you be in tomorrow?

Tim
