Chuck,

We received the Section 7 Consultation letter from US Fish and Wildlife. In addition to any species identified in our TA you also need to address the potential for affecting those species identified in this letter (see attached). Four fish species of the Upper Colorado River drainage are listed and although the mine would not affect them directly, water usage has been determined to adversely affect these species. When discussing these species you should provide the total amount of water used by the mine including water lost through mine ventilation. Mitigation is required when the annual depletion exceeds 100 acre-feet.

Call if you have any questions. If you would like, I can informally review the T & E section prior to submitting your next response.

Susan
