Dear Mr. Haddock:

Multiple Kane County offices recently attended the October 6 field trip to view the Phase 1 reclamation that had been conducted on Alton Coal Development's Coal Hollow Project in Kane County, Utah. These offices included Shannon McBride and Mary Reynolds, Kane County Planning and Zoning, Bert Harris Kane County Roads Foreman and Byard Kershaw from our Resource Committee.

All that attended the site visit was very satisfied that the backfilled areas have been restored to the approximate original contour, and that the reclamation work will be a valued landscape for the property owners.

Kane County Road K3900 is at its approximate location and proper alignment and has been restored to its original if not better alignment and road base quality as it once had been.

Kane County supports the Phase 1 bond release for the three areas for which the Application was submitted. Those areas are identified in the Bond Release Application as BRP1-1, BRP1-2 and BRP1-3.
