Vicky,

If you're using a general cost for labor such as CLAB you can use RS Means. If the cost is higher it's likely a heavy equipment operator, which is higher than CLAB prices generally. Nevada SRCE labor sheet is a quick and easy way to verify that number, otherwise you'll need to look it up on the Davis Bacon Wages, which is what the SRCE labor sheet is calculating.

Sorry, that's kind of a muddy answer but feel free to give me a call if you still have questions.
